For this assignment, I would like you to assemble 5 photos that make a reference to aboriginal culture or scenes. The photo can make a direct reference by actually having an aboriginal element in it, or it can make an indirect reference by having an element that may make you or the viewers think of aboriginal culture as seen below (I do realize that some of you may need to stay home, so I am including examples of photos that you may be able to take at home). You may also wish to see your schoolmates’ photos on my website (Players Hall Display, etc.) for ideas. The photos need to be those you have taken yourself and never been used for other assignments of Media Arts as well as other courses (eg. Photography), so if you can find such photos from your collection, by all means, you can submit them. Otherwise, you need to take new ones. As usual, be sure to utilize the Principle of Unequal Spacing and/or the Rule of Thirds.

Photos that makes direct reference to aboriginal culture

Photos that make indirect reference to aboriginal culture